Project Management Offices (PMOs) play a vital role in helping organisations improve governance, standardise project practices, and support the successful delivery of projects and programmes. As PMOs continue to expand across industries, the need for skilled administrative and delivery support professionals has become increasingly important.

Essentials for PMO Administrators is an introductory programme designed for individuals who are new to PMO environments or currently provide administrative support to projects and programmes. The course introduces the purpose of a PMO, the fundamentals of project and programme management, the key roles within a PMO, and the practical responsibilities of a PMO Administrator.

Through practical examples and interactive learning, participants develop the knowledge and skills required to effectively support PMO operations and contribute to successful project delivery.
