As organisations embrace hybrid and remote collaboration,effective communication, trust, and team synergy have become essential.
Emergenetics®: Meeting of the Minds for Teams is a highly participative, science-based workshop that helps teams understand how their thinking and behaviour influence collaboration, productivity, and innovation.

Through the Emergenetics® profile and model, participants discover their individual and collective preferences, build stronger communication bridges, and leverage diversity as a strategic strength.

Prerequisites

Participants must complete their online Emergenetics® questionnaire before attending the session.

Who Should Attend

This workshop is ideal for:

- Intact teams seeking to enhance performance and cohesion,
- Leaders and managers developing collaborative cultures,
- Professionals aiming to improve self-awareness, communication, and teamwork.

What You Will Learn

By the end of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Define what “preference” means in behavioural science,
- Explain the origins and scientific foundation ofEmergenetics®,
- Identify and interpret the 7 core attributes of the model (3 behavioural, 4 thinking),
- Review their personal profile with facilitator guidance,
- Explore team diversity and how different preferences interact,
- Understand intent vs impact in communication,
- Create a Team Charter to apply Emergenetics® principles at work.
