Overview

Organisational change rarely progresses in a simple or predictable way. Competing priorities, limited capacity, changing workloads, and unclear direction can reduce momentum long before implementation is fully underway.

This one-day practical workshop is designed to strengthen the judgement leaders need to navigate change effectively and translate strategic direction into meaningful action.

Throughout the day, participants work with practical, evidence-based approaches that help them assess their environment, understand behavioural responses to change, and identify obstacles that create friction during implementation. The workshop also provides an opportunity for learners to examine change processes within their own organisations and consider how those processes can be used more effectively.

Through a realistic case study, focused discussion, and a practical change roadmap exercise, participants leave with clearer priorities and actions they can apply directly in their workplace.

Prerequisites

There are no formal prerequisites for this course.

Participants will gain the most from the workshop by bringing an open mindset and being willing to contribute actively to discussions and interactive exercises.

Who Should Attend

This course is particularly suitable for:

- Professionals working through ongoing organisational change,
- Leaders responding to digital transformation and accelerating technological change,
- Managers balancing changing priorities with limited capacity,
- Experienced professionals working in environments where roles and responsibilities continue to evolve,
- Individuals who want to lead change with greater clarity, confidence, and effectiveness.

What You Will Learn

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Analyse the factors that make organisational change complex and identify the resulting leadership priorities,
- Assess early change momentum through Urgency, Coalition, and Direction,
- Interpret behavioural responses to change and explore the underlying causes,
- Apply leadership actions that mobilise support and reduce barriers to execution,
- Analyse the factors that help change remain effective over time,
- Align leadership behaviour with organisational systems and culture,
- Develop a focused change leadership plan that applies the key principles to their own context.

Outline

Module 1 – Understanding the Modern Change Landscape
